

PROGRAMME SPECIFICATION

This document describes the Master of Arts and Postgraduate Diploma and Postgraduate Certificate in Classical Art and Archaeology. This specification is valid for new entrants from September 2019.

The aims of the programme are:

- to enable students to explore the diverse range of ancient world studies and to specialise in relevant disciplinary areas within the field of Classical Art and Archaeology;
- to deliver a programme which is informed by the research expertise of staff, which is suited to the needs of students, which provides opportunities for students to develop academically, and which prepares students for further study;
- to develop knowledge and understanding of Classical Art and Archaeology and of the research associated with it, and to prepare students to undertake their own research under appropriate levels of supervision;
- to support the development of a range of transferable skills suitable both for further academic study and for a range of future careers.

The Masters programme is delivered over one year of full-time study (52 weeks) or up to five years of part-time study (260 weeks). On successful completion of the programme a student should have an understanding of the area of the MA at a level appropriate for a postgraduate qualification. Whilst being a self-contained degree in its own right, the programme provides suitable and recognised qualifications for entry to PhD study in the same or a closely related field.

The MA in Classical Art and Archaeology is an intercollegiate degree programme of the University of London, taught by the Departments of Classics, Greek and Latin, Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies, and History in King's College London, Royal Holloway, University of London, and University College London. Teaching is divided between the individual colleges and the Institute of Classical Studies.

Masters students must take 40 credits from a list of dedicated courses, another 80 credits from a list of available MA courses, and a dissertation. Students also take Research Training in Classical Archaeology, however this has zero weighting towards the degree. Students may include, subject to the approval of the Programme Director, an appropriate course from any other MA programme within the University of London.

This document provides a summary of the main features of the programme(s), and of the outcomes which a student might reasonably be expected to achieve if full advantage is taken of the learning opportunities provided. Further information is contained in the College prospectus, the College Regulations and in various handbooks issued to students upon arrival. Whilst Royal Holloway keeps all its information for prospective applicants and students under review, programmes and the availability of individual courses are necessarily subject to change at any time, and prospective applicants are therefore advised to seek confirmation of any factors which might affect their decision to follow a specific programme. In turn, Royal Holloway will inform applicants and students as soon as is practicable of any substantial changes which might affect their studies.

Learning outcomes

Teaching and learning in the programme are closely informed by the active research of staff. In general terms, the programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate the following learning outcomes:

Knowledge and understanding

- a detailed knowledge and understanding of the methodologies of Classical Art and Archaeology;
- an understanding of critical methodologies and their limitations;
- an understanding of advanced, current research issues relevant to the discipline;
- a critical awareness of the multiplicity of material available and the strengths and weaknesses of the various forms of art historical and archaeological information;
- a general appreciation of the varied and interlinked methodologies for understanding antiquity;
- a critical awareness of the main forms of material available to those studying Classical antiquity.

Skills and other attributes

- an ability to understand and appreciate the limits of current understanding and knowledge of antiquity;
- an advanced ability to consider and criticise secondary literature;*
- an ability to synthesise complex information from a range of sources;*
- an ability to consider, analyse and present research issues within a discussion format;*
- an ability to discuss research methodology with rigour;*
- an ability to pursue an extended piece of independent research to an appropriate level with appropriate supervision and guidance;*
- an ability to present research in a manner appropriate to the Classical Art and Archaeology research discipline;
- the skills necessary to pursue further research, whether academic or professional;*
- an ability to compare ancient institutions and societies;
- a range of skills and knowledge of methodologies drawn from a variety of sub-areas of Classical Studies;
- interpretative and analytical skills in dealing with a variety of primary and secondary source material including some of literary and/ or philosophical, archaeological, documentary and legal material;
- an ability to attain an understanding of ancient cultural and social forms from a range of different source materials;
- skills necessary for the written and oral presentation of argument and debate;*
- the discipline to meet deadlines;*
- research skills and the capacity of independent thought and study.*

* transferable skills

Teaching, learning and assessment

Teaching and learning is mostly by means of lectures, seminar discussions, oral presentations, site and museum visits, group work, problem solving study groups, practical project work, guided independent research and guided independent study. The basic strategies are to nurture the interest and enthusiasm of the students for the field, to develop the students' critical and communication skills and to develop critical, research cognitive, intellectual and general skills. Assessment of knowledge and understanding is typically by coursework essays, group work, oral presentations, reports and exercises and an independent dissertation. Full details of the assessments for individual courses can be obtained from the Department.

Details of the programme structure(s)

The full-time programme lasts 52 weeks, beginning in September. It has five elements and students are examined in four. Element (v) is mandatory (non-condonable) but zero weighted.

The brief outline of the programme is shown below; however students can obtain further details from the Programme Handbook.

Credits are indicated in brackets, and indicate proportional weighting towards the MA, PGDip and PGCert classification grade. The programme structure for the PgDip is as below, with the exception that students will not undertake the dissertation, while that for the PG Cert is that students are required to pass courses worth only 60 credits.

Students must take the following:

- (i) 40 credits chosen from the current list of courses for the MA in Classical Art and Archaeology
- (ii) and (iii) an additional 80 credits selected from the list of available MA courses
- (iv) CL5000: Dissertation in the field of classical archaeology or art-history (60 credits)
- (v) Research Training in Classical Archaeology (zero weighted)

Students are also expected to attend the Department's research seminars, and have the opportunity to attend a variety of other seminars at the Institute of Classical Studies, the Warburg Institute and other central London locations.

Part-time programme structure

The programme can be taken over two to five years beginning in September of year one. Part-time students normally take elements (i) and (ii) or (iii), and (v) in their first year, and elements (ii) or (iii) and (iv) in their second year.

Please note that the list of available courses offered is subject to change and not all courses run each year. A full list of courses for the current academic year can be obtained from the Department.

Progression and award requirements

Progression throughout the year/s is monitored through performance in oral presentations, contributions to seminar discussion and coursework.

Please note that if a student holds a Tier 4 (General) Student Visa and the student chooses to leave (or are required to leave because of non-progression) or complete early (before the course end date stated on their CAS), then this will be reported to UKVI.

To pass the Masters programme a student must achieve an overall weighted average of at least 50.00%, with no mark in any element which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50%. Failure marks between 40-49% can be condoned in courses which constitute up to a maximum of 40 credits, provided that the overall weighted average is at least 50.00%, but a failure mark (i.e. below 50%) in the dissertation cannot be condoned.

The Masters degree with Merit may be awarded if a student achieves an overall weighted average of 60.00% or above, with no mark in any element which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50%.

The Masters degree with Distinction may be awarded if a student achieves an overall weighted average of 70.00% or above, with no mark in any element which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50%. A Distinction will not normally be awarded if a student re-sits or re-takes any element of the programme. In exceptional circumstances a viva may be held for a student at the request of the Examiners.

The Postgraduate Diploma may be awarded if a student achieves an overall weighted average of at least 50.00%, with no mark in any taught element which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50% and has either chosen not to proceed to the dissertation, or has failed the dissertation on either the first or second attempt. Failure marks in the region 40-49% are not usually condoned for the award of a Postgraduate Diploma, but if they are, such condoned fails would be in courses which do not constitute more than 40 credits.

The Postgraduate Diploma with Merit may be awarded if a student achieves an overall weighted average of 60.00% or above, with no mark in any element which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50%.

The Postgraduate Diploma with Distinction may be awarded if a student achieves an overall weighted average of 70.00% or above, with no mark in any element which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50%. A Distinction will not normally be awarded if a student re-sits or re-takes any element of the programme. In exceptional circumstances a viva may be held for a student at the request of the Examiners.

The Postgraduate Certificate may be awarded if a student achieves an overall weighted average of at least 50.00%, with no mark in any taught course which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50%. Failure marks in the region 40-49% are not usually condoned for the award of a Postgraduate Certificate.

The Postgraduate Certificate with Merit may be awarded if a student achieves an overall weighted average of 60.00% or above, with no mark in any course which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50%.

The Postgraduate Certificate with Distinction may be awarded if a student achieves an overall weighted average of 70.00% or above, with no mark in any course which counts towards the final assessment falling below 50%. A Distinction will not normally be awarded if a student re-sits or re-takes any course. In exceptional circumstances a viva may be held for a student at the request of the Examiners.

Student support and guidance

- The Programme Director acts as Personal Adviser and meets with the students on a regular basis (and at least once a term) to advise on academic, pastoral and welfare issues. The Programme Director also acts as a point of contact for pastoral support and any questions about the programme throughout the year.
- Course coordinators, tutors and dissertation supervisors provide a back-up system of academic, pastoral and welfare advice.
- Induction programmes for orientation and introduction to the Department and College are organised by the Director of Graduate Studies.
- All staff are available and accessible either through an office-hour system or by appointment via email.
- Representation on the Student-Staff Committee.
- Detailed PG handbook and course booklets.
- Extensive supporting materials and learning resources in College and University libraries, Joint Library of the Institute of Classical Studies and the Hellenic and Roman Societies, British Library, as well as the Computer Centre.
- College Careers Service and Departmental Employability Lead officer.
- Access to all College and University support services, including Student Counselling Service, Health Centre, Students' Union and students with additional learning needs also have access to Disability and Dyslexia Services (DDS)

Further learning and career opportunities

Graduates from Classics MA programmes have successfully progressed into a wide range of professions which include law, politics, publishing and the media, museum work, management, the public sector, and teaching. For other graduates, completing an MA is the precursor to embarking on research, ultimately leading to a PhD. For more details on further learning and career opportunities please refer to the Careers & Employability Service.

Indicators of quality and standards

Royal Holloway's position as one of the UK's leading research-intensive institutions was confirmed by the results of the most recent Research Excellence Framework (REF 2014) conducted by the Higher Education Funding Council (HEFCE). The scoring system for the REF 2014 measures research quality in four categories, with the top score of 4* indicating quality that is world-leading and of the highest standards in terms of originality, significance and rigour and 3* indicating research that is internationally excellent. 81% of the College's research profile was deemed to be within the 4* or 3* categories, an increase of over 20% since 2008. This result placed Royal Holloway 31st overall in the UK for 4* and 3* research and 33rd based on an overall Grade Point Average (GPA) score.

The Department of Classics is ranked 21st in the UK for research of 4* standard and 21st for 3* and 4* research.
