

Royal Holloway, University of London
Programme specification for an undergraduate award
BA English and American Literature (QT37)

Section 1 – Introduction to your programme

This programme specification is a formal document, which provides a summary of the main features of your programme and the learning outcomes that you might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if you take full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. Further information is contained in the College prospectus, and in various handbooks, all of which you will be able to access online. Alternatively, further information on the College's academic regulations and policies can be found here. Further information on the College's Admissions Policy can be found here.

Your degree programme in English and American Literature is delivered in three stages, each of which comprises one year of full-time study during which you must follow courses to the value of 120 credits. The programmes provide progressive structures in which you are able to gain ever-wider knowledge and understanding, and appropriate skills. The programmes contain a combination of compulsory mandatory courses to introduce you to historical periods, to the principle historical and literary genres, and to contemporary critical and theoretical approaches, with a range of stage two and three specialist options. In each case the structure encourages you, in stage two and three, to develop your own interests through informed choice among specialist options. In stage three you are required to write a dissertation and/or long essays. The programmes aim to produce graduates with a range of personal attributes relevant to the world beyond HE, who are able to engage in lifelong learning, to consider ethics and values, and to contribute to the wider community.

While Royal Holloway keeps all the information made available under review, programmes and the availability of individual course units, especially optional course units are necessarily subject to change at any time, and you are therefore advised to seek confirmation of any factors which might affect your decision to follow a specific programme. In turn, Royal Holloway will inform you as soon as is practicable of any significant changes which might affect your studies.

The following is brief description for some of the most important terminology for understanding the content of this document:

Degree programme – Also referred to as 'degree course' or simply 'course', these terms refer to the qualification you will be awarded upon successful completion of your studies.

Course unit – Also referred to as 'module', this refers to the individual units you will study each year to complete your degree programme. Undergraduate degrees at Royal Holloway comprise four full units, or a combination of full and half units, to the value of 120 credits per year. On some degree programmes a certain number of optional course units must be passed for a particular degree title.

Section 2 – Programme details
Date of specification update	April 2019	Location of study	Egham Campus
Programme award and title	BA English and American Literature	Level of study	Undergraduate
Programme code	2959	UCAS code	QT37
Year of entry	2019/20
Awarding body	Royal Holloway, University of London
Department or school	English	Other departments or schools involved in teaching the programme	N/A
Mode(s) of attendance	Full-time or part-time	Duration of the programme	Three years or six years
Accrediting Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Body requirement(s)	N/A
Link to Coursefinder for further information:	https://www.royalholloway.ac.uk/studying-here/	For queries on admissions:	study@royalholloway.ac.uk .

Section 3 – Degree programme structure
3.1 Mandatory course unit information
The following table summarises the mandatory modules which students must take in each year of study
Year	Course code	Course title	Contact hours*	Self-study hours	Written exams	Practical assessment	Coursework	Credits	FHEQ level	Course status (see below)
1	EN1401	Introducing America: American Literature 1600 to 1900	60	240	0	10%	90%	30	4	MC
1	EN1105	Literature and Crisis	45.6	254.4	60%	0	40%	30	4	MC
1	EN1011	English: Thinking as a Critic	22	128	0	0	100%	15	4	MC
1	EN1107	English: Re-orienting the Novel	44	256	80%	0	20%	30	4	MC
1	EN1112	English: Introduction to Poetry	22	128	0	0	100%	15	4	MC
2	EN2401	American Literature from 1900	44	256		20%	80%	30	5	MC

This table sets out the most important information for the mandatory courses on your degree programme. These courses are central to achieving your learning outcomes, so they are compulsory, and all students on your degree programme will be required to take them. You will be automatically registered for these courses each year. Mandatory courses fall into two categories; 'condonable' or 'non-condonable'.

In the case of mandatory 'non-condonable' (MNC) courses, you must pass the course before you can proceed to the next year of your programme, or to successfully graduate with a particular degree title. In the case of mandatory 'condonable' (MC) courses, these must be taken but you can still progress or graduate even if you do not pass them. Please note that although Royal Holloway will keep changes to a minimum, changes to your degree programme may be made where reasonable and necessary due to unexpected events. For example; where requirements of relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies have changed and programme requirements must change accordingly, or where changes are deemed necessary on the basis of student feedback and/or the advice of external advisors, to enhance academic provision.

*Contact hours come in various different forms, and may take the form of time spent with a member of staff in a lecture or seminar with other students. Contact hours may also be laboratory or, studio-based sessions, project supervision with a member of staff, or discussion through a virtual learning environment (VLE). These contact hours may be with a lecturer or teaching assistant, but they may also be with a technician, or specialist support staff.

The way in which each course on your degree programme is assessed will also vary, however, the assessments listed above are all 'summative', which means you will receive a mark for it which will count towards your overall mark for the course, and potentially your degree classification, depending on your year of study. On successful completion of the course you will gain the credits listed. 'Coursework' might typically include a written assignment, like an essay. Coursework might also include a report, dissertation or portfolio. 'Practical assessments' might include an oral assessment or presentation, or a demonstration of practical skills required for the particular course.

3.2 Optional course units

In addition to mandatory course units, there will be a number of optional course units available during the course of your degree. The following table lists a selection of optional course units that are likely to be available. However, not all may be available every year. Although Royal Holloway will keep changes to a minimum, new options may be offered or existing ones may be withdrawn. For example; where reasonable and necessary due to unexpected events, where requirements of relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies (PSRBs) have changed and programme requirements must change accordingly, or where changes are deemed necessary on the basis of student feedback and/or the advice of External Advisors, to enhance academic provision. There may be additional requirements around option selection, so it is important that this specification is read alongside your department's Student Handbook, which you can access via their webpage.

Year 1	Year 2	Year 3
None	EN2321 American Literature: Dark Reform – Scandal and Satire in American Culture	EN3329 American: The Great American Novella
	American Literature: American Drama (tbc)	EN3322 American: Literature of Chicago
	EN2324 English: Debates in Literary and Critical Theory	EN3303 American: African-American Literature
	EN2309 English: Literature of the Fin de Siècle	American: Special Author Project: Dickinson
	EN2216 English: Modernist Fiction: James, Conrad & Ford	EN3218 English: Writing Migrant Identities
	EN2130: English: Literary Adaptations: American Dystopias

3.3 Optional course unit requirements

In your second year you must choose options equal to the value of 90 credits from a list of Stage two courses offered by the Department. You must take at least 30 credits in American literature, or alternatively balance English and American courses which cover both literatures in a manner approved by the programme director. Over your second and third years, you must take at least 30 credits focusing on literature before 1780 (excluding Shakespeare).

In your final year you are recommended to take at least 60 credits from the range of options offered by the Department in any of the following three areas:
 Special Author Project (30 credits);
 Special Topic (30 credits) and

Dissertation (30 credits). Only one Dissertation is permitted.

You must (whether you accept that recommendation or not) choose options from the list of Stage three courses offered by the Department to a total of 120 credits, balancing English and American courses in a manner approved by the Programme Director. If not already completed in Stage Two, the requirement for 30 credits focusing on literature before 1780 (excluding Shakespeare) must be completed in Stage Three.

Section 4 - Progressing through each year of your degree programme

For further information on the progression and award requirements for your degree, please refer to Royal Holloway's Academic Regulations.

All first year students on single joint or combined honours programmes offered all or in part by departments or schools in the Faculty of Arts & Social Science are required to pass a Moodle-based writing skills quiz in order to progress into the second year of study. The pass mark for the test is 60%. Certificates of Distinction are awarded to students who achieve at least 80% in the quiz. Students may attempt the quiz as often as they wish with no penalties or capping. Students who meet the requirements for progression as stipulated in the College's Undergraduate Regulations (Section: Conditions for progression to the next stage) but fail to pass the Moodle-based quiz will not be permitted to progress into their second year of academic study at the College.

Part time students must take:

Stage one (a):

Courses equivalent to 60 credits of the following in consecutive terms, as timetabled:

EN1401 Introducing America, 1600-1900 (30 credits)

EN1105 Literature and Crisis (30 credits)

EN1107 Re-orienting the Novel (30 credits)

EN1112 Introduction to Poetry (15 credits)

EN1011 Thinking as a Critic (15 credits)

Stage one (b):

The remaining courses equivalent to 60 credits of the following:

EN1401 Introducing America, 1600-1900 (30 credits)

EN1105 Literature and Crisis (30 credits)

EN1107 Re-orienting the Novel (30 credits)

EN1112 Introduction to Poetry (15 credits)

EN1011 Thinking as a Critic (15 credits)

Stage two (a):

Students must take the following:

EN2401 American Literature 1900-1940

and options equal to the value of 30 credits from a list of Stage two courses offered by the Department. Over the course of Stage Two and Stage Three, students must take at least 30 credits focusing on literature before 1780 (excluding Shakespeare).

Stage two (b):

Students choose options equal to the value of 60 credits from a list of Stage two courses offered by the Department. They must take at least 30 credits in American literature, or alternatively balance English and American courses which cover both literatures in a manner approved by the programme director.

Stage three (a):

Students are recommended to take at least 30 credits from the range of options offered by the Department in any of the following three areas:

Special Author Project (30 credits);

Special Topic (30 credits) and

Dissertation (30 credits). Only one Dissertation is permitted.

Students must (whether they accept that recommendation or not) choose options from the list of Stage three courses offered by the Department to a total of 60 credits, balancing English and American courses in a manner approved by the Programme Director. If not already completed in Stage Two, the requirement for 30 credits focusing on literature before 1780 (excluding Shakespeare) must be completed in Stage Three.

Stage three (b):

Students are recommended to take at least 30 credits from the range of options offered by the Department in any of the following three areas:

Special Author Project (30 credits);

Special Topic (30 credits) and

Dissertation (30 credits). Only one Dissertation is permitted.

Students must (whether they accept that recommendation or not) choose options from the list of Stage three courses offered by the Department to a total of 60 credits, balancing English and American courses in a manner approved by the Programme Director. If not already completed in Stage Two or Three (a), the requirement for 30 credits focusing on literature before 1780 (excluding Shakespeare) must be completed in Stage Three.

Section 5 – Educational aims of the programme

The aims of this programme are:

- to enable you to develop independent critical thinking and judgement;
- to engage you imaginatively in the process of reading and analysing literary texts;
- to encourage you to appreciate the expressive resources of language;
- to encourage you to reflect critically upon the act of reading;
- to promote an understanding of formal, generic and aesthetic aspects of literary texts;
- to encourage an awareness of literature's historical and political dimension as it relates to national contexts;
- to foster an awareness of contextual aspects of the production and determination of meaning;
- to develop a range of subject-specific and transferable skills;
- to provide a basis for further study in English or related disciplines, and a foundation of knowledge for teachers of English at all levels;
- to provide an intellectually stimulating and satisfying experience of studying;
- to encourage in you a sense of enthusiasm for the subject, and an appreciation of its continuing social and cultural importance;
- to encourage you to take progressive responsibility for your own study through negotiating subject areas of specialism with other students in seminars and study groups, through the informed choice of options, and through an extended piece of writing in the final year.

Section 6 - Programme learning outcomes

In general terms, the programmes provide opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate the following learning outcomes. (Categories – Knowledge and understanding (K), Skills and other attributes (S), and Transferable skills (*))

<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. English literature from the 9th Century to the present day or from the 15th Century to the present day, depending on exact programme taken by student (K); 2. American literature from 1600 to the present day, with a particular focus on literature from 1800 (K); 3. the principal literary genres (fiction, poetry and drama) (K); 4. creativity and expressivity in literary forms and language (K); 5. a range of contemporary critical and theoretical approaches to literature (K); 6. advanced scholarship in chosen areas of the discipline (K); 7. appropriate critical and theoretical terminology (K); 8. a range of relevant linguistic, literary, cultural and socio-historical contexts in which literature is written and read, including the two main national contexts considered in the degree (K); 9. literature's relations to cultural change (K); 10. some of literature's relations to other disciplines, media and forms of knowledge (K); 11. critical skills in close reading, the analysis and critical interpretation of text and data (S); 12. sensitivity and responsiveness to language and literary form and an understanding of generic conventions (S); 13. the ability to evaluate relevant critical, theoretical and contextual research (S); 14. the ability to conduct literary research independently using traditional and electronic resources (S); 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 15. the ability to articulate knowledge and the understanding of texts, concepts and theories relating to English literature (S); 16. command of a wider vocabulary and appropriate critical and theoretical terminology (S); 17. bibliographical skills appropriate to the subject including accurate citation of sources and consistent use of conventions in the presentation of scholarly work; 18. judging and evaluating evidence (S); 19. assessing the merits of competing theories, explanations and interpretations (S); 20. analysing and interpreting bodies of information (S); 21. abstracting and synthesising information (S); 22. developing a reasoned argument (S); 23. planning and execution of essays and project-work (S); 24. developing habits of reflection on reading, learning and of study, learning and research (S*); 25. listening to, and learning from, criticism (S*); 26. advanced written and oral communication skills (S*); 27. the ability to present logical and coherent written and oral arguments of varying lengths (S*); 28. the capacity to analyse and critically examine diverse forms of discourse (S*); 29. the ability to organise and interpret complex information in a structured and systematic way (S*); 30. the ability to comprehend and develop sophisticated concepts (S*); 31. the capacity for independent thought and judgement (S*); 32. skills in critical reasoning (S*); 33. information technology skills (including word processing and email) (S*).
--	--

Section 7 - Teaching, learning and assessment

Teaching and learning is mostly by means of lectures; seminars; study groups; essay consultations; oral presentations and guided independent study. Assessment of knowledge and understanding is typically by formal examinations, coursework, examined essays, translation exercises, online tests and exercises, oral presentations and the dissertation or long essay. In addition, students may be involved in workshops and may produce various forms of creative or editorial work. Full details of the assessments for individual courses can be obtained from the Department.

Section 8 – Additional costs

There are no single associated costs greater than £50 per item on this degree programme.

These estimated costs relate to studying this particular degree programme at Royal Holloway. General costs such as accommodation, food, books and other learning materials and printing etc., have not been included, but further information is available on our website.

Section 9 – Indicators of quality and standards

QAA Framework for Higher Education Qualifications (FHEQ) Level	4-6
---	-----

Your programme is designed in accordance with the FHEQ to ensure your qualification is awarded on the basis of nationally established standards of achievement, for both outcomes and attainment. The qualification descriptors within the FHEQ set out the generic outcomes and attributes expected for the award of individual qualifications. The qualification descriptors contained in the FHEQ exemplify the outcomes and attributes expected of learning that results in the award of higher education qualifications. These outcomes represent the integration of various learning experiences resulting from designated and coherent programmes of study.

QAA Subject benchmark statement(s)	http://www.qaa.ac.uk/quality-code/subject-benchmark-statements
---	---

Subject benchmark statements provide a means for the academic community to describe the nature and characteristics of programmes in a specific subject or subject area. They also represent general expectations about standards for the award of qualifications at a given level in terms of the attributes and capabilities that those possessing qualifications should have demonstrated.

Section 10 – Further information

This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate when taking full advantage of the learning opportunities that are available. More detailed information on course units, including teaching and learning methods, and methods of assessment, can be found via the online Course Catalogue. The accuracy of the information contained in this document is reviewed regularly by the university, and may also be checked routinely by external agencies, such as the Quality Assurance Agency (QAA).

Your programme will be reviewed regularly, both by the university as part of its cyclical quality enhancement processes, and/or by your department or school, who may wish to make improvements to the curriculum, or in response to resource planning. As such, your programme may be revised during the course of your study at Royal Holloway. However, your department or school will take reasonable steps to consult with students via appropriate channels when considering changes. All continuing students will be routinely informed of any significant changes.

Section 11 – Intermediate exit awards (where available)

You may be eligible for an intermediate exit award if you complete part of the programme as detailed in this document. Any additional criteria (e.g. mandatory course units, credit requirements) for intermediate awards is outlined in the sections below.

Award	Criteria	Awarding body
Diploma in Higher Education (DipHE)	Pass in 210 credits of which at least 90 must be at or above FHEQ Level 4 and at least 120 of which must be at or above FHEQ Level 5	Royal Holloway and Bedford New College
Certificate in Higher Education (CertHE)	Pass in 120 credits of which at least 90 must be at or above FHEQ Level 4	Royal Holloway and Bedford New College

Section 12 - Associated award(s)	