

Royal Holloway, University of London
Programme specification for an undergraduate award
BA Music and Philosophy (WV35)

Section 1 – Introduction to your programme

This programme specification is a formal document, which provides a summary of the main features of your programme and the learning outcomes that you might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if you take full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. Further information is contained in the College prospectus, and in various handbooks, all of which you will be able to access online. Alternatively, further information on the College's academic regulations and policies can be found here. Further information on the College's Admissions Policy can be found here.

Your degree programme in Music and Philosophy is delivered in three stages, each of which comprises one year of full-time study during which you must follow courses to the value of 120 credits. The programmes provide progressive structures in which you are able to gain ever-wider knowledge and understanding, and appropriate skills. Stage one courses concentrate on fundamentals. Thereafter, increasing freedom of choice of courses from intermediate (I) and honours (H) level courses in stages two and three allows you, with advice, either to maintain a broad spread of studies or to construct pathways which emphasize historical musicology, theory and analysis, performance ethnomusicology, music & media, or composition. Most programmes culminate in a stage three special study in one of these fields (possibly two special studies) and can thereby lay the foundations for postgraduate study, if desired.

For joint and combined honours programmes, please refer to the programme specification for your secondary department's corresponding single honours programme for further information on educational aims, and learning outcomes.

While Royal Holloway keeps all the information made available under review, programmes and the availability of individual course units, especially optional course units are necessarily subject to change at any time, and you are therefore advised to seek confirmation of any factors which might affect your decision to follow a specific programme. In turn, Royal Holloway will inform you as soon as is practicable of any significant changes which might affect your studies.

The following is brief description for some of the most important terminology for understanding the content of this document:

Degree programme – Also referred to as 'degree course' or simply 'course', these terms refer to the qualification you will be awarded upon successful completion of your studies.

Course unit – Also referred to as 'module', this refers to the individual units you will study each year to complete your degree programme. Undergraduate degrees at Royal Holloway comprise four full units, or a combination of full and half units, to the value of 120 credits per year. On some degree programmes a certain number of optional course units must be passed for a particular degree title.

Section 3 – Degree programme structure
3.1 Mandatory course unit information
The following table summarises the mandatory modules which students must take in each year of study
Year	Course code	Course title	Contact hours*	Self-study hours	Written exams	Practical assessment	Coursework	Credits	FHEQ level	Course status (see below)
1	PY1002	Philosophy: Introduction to Modern Philosophy	20	130	40%	0	60%	15	4	MC
1	PY1101	Philosophy: Problems of Knowledge	30	120	40%	0	60%	15	4	MNC
1	PY1541	Philosophy: Introduction to Ancient Philosophy	20	130	0	0	100%	15	4	MC
2	PY2001	Kant	20	130	50%	0	50%	15	5	MC
2	PY2002	Mind and World	21	129	0	0	100%	15	5	MC

This table sets out the most important information for the mandatory courses on your degree programme. These courses are central to achieving your learning outcomes, so they are compulsory, and all students on your degree programme will be required to take them. You will be automatically registered for these courses each year. Mandatory courses fall into two categories; 'condonable' or 'non-condonable'.

In the case of mandatory 'non-condonable' (MNC) courses, you must pass the course before you can proceed to the next year of your programme, or to successfully graduate with a particular degree title. In the case of mandatory 'condonable' (MC) courses, these must be taken but you can still progress or graduate even if you do not pass them. Please note that although Royal Holloway will keep changes to a minimum, changes to your degree programme may be made where reasonable and necessary due to unexpected events. For example; where requirements of relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies have changed and programme requirements must change accordingly, or where changes are deemed necessary on the basis of student feedback and/or the advice of external advisors, to enhance academic provision.

*Contact hours come in various different forms, and may take the form of time spent with a member of staff in a lecture or seminar with other students. Contact hours may also be laboratory or, studio-based sessions, project supervision with a member of staff, or discussion through a virtual learning environment (VLE). These contact hours may be with a lecturer or teaching assistant, but they may also be with a technician, or specialist support staff.

The way in which each course on your degree programme is assessed will also vary, however, the assessments listed above are all 'summative', which means you will receive a mark for it which will count towards your overall mark for the course, and potentially your degree classification, depending on your year of study. On successful completion of the course you will gain the credits listed. 'Coursework' might typically include a written assignment, like an essay. Coursework might also include a report, dissertation or portfolio. 'Practical assessments' might include an oral assessment or presentation, or a demonstration of practical skills required for the particular course.

3.2 Optional course units

In addition to mandatory course units, there will be a number of optional course units available during the course of your degree. The following table lists a selection of optional course units that are likely to be available. However, not all may be available every year. Although Royal Holloway will keep changes to a minimum, new options may be offered or existing ones may be withdrawn. For example; where reasonable and necessary due to unexpected events, where requirements of relevant Professional, Statutory or Regulatory Bodies (PSRBs) have changed and programme requirements must change accordingly, or where changes are deemed necessary on the basis of student feedback and/or the advice of External Advisors, to enhance academic provision. There may be additional requirements around option selection, so it is important that this specification is read alongside your department's Student Handbook, which you can access via their webpage.

3.3 Optional course unit requirements

The curriculum in Music is as follows:

Stage one:

You must take four courses, to include at least one course from List A; at least one course from Lists C or D; and no more than one course from List E:

List A

MU1110 Theory and Analysis (15 credits)

MU1111 Practical Musicianship (15 credits)

List B

MU1112 Creative Composition Techniques (15 credits)

MU1113 Practical Composition Skills (15 credits)

List C

MU1114 A Very Short History of Music (15 credits)

MU1115 Introduction to Historical Musicology (15 credits)

List D

MU1116 Introduction to World Music (15 credits)

MU1117 Contemporary Debates in Music (15 credits)

List E

MU1118 Solo Performance (15 credits)

MU1119 Creative Ensemble Performance (15 credits)

Stage two:

You choose courses to the value of 2 units, to include at least two courses from the following list:

MU2000 Studies in Music Analysis (15 credits)

MU2001 Studies in Composition (15 credits)

MU2002 Studies in Music History (15 credits)

MU2003 Studies in Ethnomusicology (15 credits)

MU2004 Studies in Music, Media & Technology (15 credits)

MU2205 Practical Performance (15 credits)

and options drawn from intermediate (I) and honours (H) level courses with a maximum of 30 credits of H.

Stage three:

You choose courses to the value of 60 credits drawn from honours (H) and intermediate (I) level courses with a maximum of 30 credits of I.

Note:

(i) The curriculum above reflects the equal division of the 360 credits of a Joint Honours programme into 180 credits of each component. Over stages two and three the Music curriculum may be decreased or increased by up to 30 credits to give the permitted minimum of 150 credits and maximum of 210 credits in Music.

(ii) Within stages two and three, and subject to the approval of the Departments concerned, up to 30 credits of 'elective' courses of intermediate (I) or honours (H) level courses in other Departments may be substituted for Music courses, consistent with the permitted maxima of H and I in stages two and three respectively, given above.

(iii) Prerequisites may apply to optional courses.

Section 4 - Progressing through each year of your degree programme

For further information on the progression and award requirements for your degree, please refer to Royal Holloway's Academic Regulations.

All first year students on single joint or combined honours programmes offered all or in part by departments or schools in the Faculty of Arts & Social Science are required to pass a Moodle-based writing skills quiz in order to progress into the second year of study. The pass mark for the test is 60%. Certificates of Distinction are awarded to students who achieve at least 80% in the quiz. Students may attempt the quiz as often as they wish with no penalties or capping. Students who meet the requirements for progression as stipulated in the College's Undergraduate Regulations (Section: Conditions for progression to the next stage) but fail to pass the Moodle-based quiz will not be permitted to progress into their second year of academic study at the College.

Section 5 – Educational aims of the programme

The aims of this programme are:

- to encourage a deeper understanding of music through the detailed study of its manifold aspects, while at the same time promoting the development of your intellectual, critical and creative abilities;
- to promote the study of music in its historical and social contexts (treated not only as a history of musical style but also in terms of its cultural, aesthetic and ethnomusicological aspects);
- to promote the study of music in relation to the structure and techniques of composition (including musical analysis, theory, composition and music technology);
- to promote the study of music in its practical application through performance and performance practice;
- to produce graduates equipped with the knowledge and skills necessary for the undertaking of further study of music at postgraduate level, if desired, and with personal attributes and professional skills relevant to the wider world beyond the academic study of music.

Section 6 - Programme learning outcomes

In general terms, the programmes provide opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate the following learning outcomes. (Categories – Knowledge and understanding (K), Skills and other attributes (S), and Transferable skills (*))

<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. knowledge of selected repertoires, cultures, problems or themes in depth (K); 2. an understanding of the relationship between music and broader cultural, social, political and economic environments (K); 3. an understanding of the concepts underpinning the study of music history (e.g. stylistic change; the musical work), and the problems encountered in identifying and explaining these concepts (K); 4. an understanding of musical works in terms of coherent bodies of theory and tested analytically (K); 5. an understanding of the complex linkages between the many aspects of a culture, repertory, problem or theme (K); 6. an understanding of the nature of professional musical and musicological activity at the highest national and international levels (K); 7. an understanding of music in relation to or in contrast with another discipline (K*); 8. the opportunity to explore interdisciplinary aspects of music and another discipline (K*); 9. to define the numerous key terms and analytical concepts that are employed in the historical, theoretical, critical and aesthetic analysis of musical products and cultures (S); 10. to manipulate both words and musical notation in the service of advanced creative or interpretive tasks (S); 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 11. to evaluate and express the advantages and disadvantages of different critical and interpretive techniques (S); 12. to contribute to the understanding of at least one complex musical work, problem or theme by way of advanced independent study (S); 13. to analyse the context, form and content of primary and secondary sources, both of musical works and of other materials relating to the study and criticism of music in all its aspects, and to test their interplay (S); 14. to expose the epistemological issues encountered in the study of such materials (S); 15. to understand in depth the criticism and/or sources pertaining to one or more musical works, problems or themes (S); 16. to assimilate and comprehend complex bodies of information perceived through the eye and the ear (S*); 17. to organize and take responsibility for learning (S*); 18. to work to timetables and deadlines (S*); 19. to participate in collective debate and analysis (S*); 20. to plan and produce a body of work or performance based on independent research and/or creative activity (S*); 21. to engage in social communication, team-working, collaborative problem-solving, organization and presentation (S*).

Section 7 - Teaching, learning and assessment

Teaching and learning is mostly by means of lectures, seminars, tutorials, oral presentations, and instrumental/vocal lessons. Beyond formal teaching sessions, learning takes place through private study and practice, attendance at college concerts, and participation in Department-sponsored (and other) musical activities, including performances by various orchestras, choirs and other ensembles. Formative assessment during the academic year is succeeded by formal summative assessment; modes of assessment include coursework essay or other assignment, portfolio of technical exercises or compositions, formal written examination, practical tests, examination recital and dissertation. Full details of the assessments for individual courses can be obtained from the Music Department and Philosophy Department.

Section 8 – Additional costs

There are no single associated costs greater than £50 per item on this degree programme.

These estimated costs relate to studying this particular degree programme at Royal Holloway. General costs such as accommodation, food, books and other learning materials and printing etc., have not been included, but further information is available on our website.

Section 9 – Indicators of quality and standards

QAA Framework for Higher Education Qualifications (FHEQ) Level	4-6
---	-----

Your programme is designed in accordance with the FHEQ to ensure your qualification is awarded on the basis of nationally established standards of achievement, for both outcomes and attainment. The qualification descriptors within the FHEQ set out the generic outcomes and attributes expected for the award of individual qualifications. The qualification descriptors contained in the FHEQ exemplify the outcomes and attributes expected of learning that results in the award of higher education qualifications. These outcomes represent the integration of various learning experiences resulting from designated and coherent programmes of study.

QAA Subject benchmark statement(s)	http://www.qaa.ac.uk/quality-code/subject-benchmark-statements
---	---

Subject benchmark statements provide a means for the academic community to describe the nature and characteristics of programmes in a specific subject or subject area. They also represent general expectations about standards for the award of qualifications at a given level in terms of the attributes and capabilities that those possessing qualifications should have demonstrated.

Section 10 – Further information

This specification provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate when taking full advantage of the learning opportunities that are available. More detailed information on course units, including teaching and learning methods, and methods of assessment, can be found via the online Course Catalogue. The accuracy of the information contained in this document is reviewed regularly by the university, and may also be checked routinely by external agencies, such as the Quality Assurance Agency (QAA).

Your programme will be reviewed regularly, both by the university as part of its cyclical quality enhancement processes, and/or by your department or school, who may wish to make improvements to the curriculum, or in response to resource planning. As such, your programme may be revised during the course of your study at Royal Holloway. However, your department or school will take reasonable steps to consult with students via appropriate channels when considering changes. All continuing students will be routinely informed of any significant changes.

Section 11 – Intermediate exit awards (where available)

You may be eligible for an intermediate exit award if you complete part of the programme as detailed in this document. Any additional criteria (e.g. mandatory course units, credit requirements) for intermediate awards is outlined in the sections below.

Award	Criteria	Awarding body
Diploma in Higher Education (DipHE)	Pass in 210 credits of which at least 90 must be at or above FHEQ Level 4 and at least 120 of which must be at or above FHEQ Level 5	Royal Holloway and Bedford New College
Certificate in Higher Education (CertHE)	Pass in 120 credits of which at least 90 must be at or above FHEQ Level 4	Royal Holloway and Bedford New College
